

Midwife

Midwives are widely known for their expertise in the delivery of babies. This exclusive group of women (mostly human and Halfling) are followers of Rhya who travel from village to village facilitating childbirth and easing the associated pain. Naturally, their reputation is such that they are welcomed wherever they travel and are often sought out by the rural aristocracy to deliver their heirs. There is a mild competition between midwives and travelling priestesses of Shallya, who are more influenced by “modern” medical practice.
